DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-6, 8 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Shaffer (4,949,851).

See Figs. 1-4. Shaffer discloses a collapsible display, the display comprising a first portion 14 having a folded condition (Fig. 1) and an unfolded condition (Fig. 4); a second portion 18, the top section of which constitutes a display area; and at least one product supporting portion 20 pivotably connected between the first and second portions; wherein the second portion 18 is moveable relative to the first portion 14 between a first position (Fig. 1), in which the product supporting portion 20 is folded flat against the first portion 14 to allow folding of the first portion to the folded condition thereof, and a second position (Fig. 4), in which the product supporting portion 20 is adapted to support at least one product to be displayed and to retain the first portion 14 in the unfolded condition thereof, and all of the second portion 18 protrudes from the first portion.

Regarding claim 2, see Fig. 1.

Regarding claim 3, the second portion 18 is attached to the first portion 14 via product supporting portions 20 at locations remote from the top, display area, of second portion 18.

Regarding claims 4, 5 and 12, note tabs 22 and slots 24.

Art Unit: 3611

Regarding claim 6, slots 24 are integral with the first portion.

Regarding claim 8, slot 24 is an aperture that is engaged by a user to enable folding of the product supporting portion 20 against the first portion 14 by first removing tab 22 from the slot 24.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shaffer (4,949,851) in view of Smith (3,987,737).

Shaffer discloses the invention substantially as claimed, as set forth above. Such devices are typically constructed of cardboard, or like material, but Shaffer does not disclose a specific material for constructing the device. Therefore, it is not known whether the material around slot 24 is flexible. However, Smith teaches that it was known in the art to make a collapsible display stand out of cardboard. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the collapsible display stand disclosed by Shaffer out of cardboard, as taught by Smith, in order to make a light, easy-to-handle structure. When constructed from cardboard, it is clear that the material around the slot 24, which is a retaining member, is flexible, and is therefor "adapted to be displaced out of the plane" of the material adjacent thereto.

6. Claims 9-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shaffer (4,949,851) in view of Podergois (5,632,390).

Shaffer discloses the invention substantially as claimed, as set forth above. However, Shaffer does not disclose a separate display member mounted to the first portion. Podergois teaches that it was known in the art to provide a display stand with a header 19 spanning side supports and displaying graphic information. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the display stand disclosed by Shaffer with a header, as taught by Podergois, in order to display graphic information. The header would span the space between first portions 14.

Regarding claim 11, the first portions 14 retain the display member in position, and these portions are foldable.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
